WILL PROBATED

Some of the Provisions Made by Phillips Brooks

BOSTON, Jan 28 Bishop Brooks will was filed for probate to-day Among the provisions are the following All his printed books to Trinity church to form a rector's and parish library, $2 000 to Trinity church toward the completion of the front of the edifice $1 000 to the Home for Incurables $5 000 each to the Hogan sisters, his domestics The will appears to be in the Bishop's own hand writing

A friend of the late Bishop authorizes the statement that the current reports as to his great wealth are wholly without foundation. The only use which Dr Brooks cared to make of money was to distribute it among those who needed it and his daily life was marked by open handed and tender charity So far was he from using his talents to accumulate property that at the time of his death he had not sufficient income beyond his salary to support his simple and unassuming manner of living

His land and real estate in North Andover, his horses, carriages and harnesses and other personal property goes to his brother William Gray Brooks, $5 000 is given to Gertrude, daughter of William Gray Brooks, $1 000 to Rev James Potter Franks, of Essex, and the residue of the estate is to be divided between the bishop's three brothers

REV. BEVAR D. SINCLAIR.

A Noted Clergyman who Cordially Endorses Hidden's Magnetic Compound.

Among the many letters of endorsement which we have received none will be read with deeper interest than the following from the brilliant and gifted pastor of the famous Old South Church in Newburyport.

Old South Parsonage,
Newburyport, Mass., Nov. 1, 1892.

To the Public —In my profession, duties as a benefactor of humanity, I know of no greater service to my fellow-men than that of pointing out a remedy for the physical ills which lie at the basis of man's moral and mental well or ill being. I have had the personal acquaintance of Dr. C. W. Hidden of the Hidden Magnetic Co. for some years, and have been familiar with his earnest, painstaking scientific efforts to produce a remedy which will repair the waste occasioned by the nervous friction of this busy nineteenth century, and which will restore vital energy to the enfeebled frame, and tone up the whole manhood, while it eliminates the physical ailments and elements of disease. I feel great pleasure and great confidence in saying to the public that Hidden's Magnetic Compound is the coming medicine, and I expect to see it come into necessity in every home as a mother's love. The reliable character and standing of the gentlemen who compose the company inspires every confidence in their claims, and it is not to be wondered at that they are meeting with great success as benefactors of the suffering. The medical profession who have investigated the properties and composition of Hidden's Magnetic Compound pronounce it safe and effectual. I feel that a man may not despair of being cured who has not tried this wonderful remedy.

BEVAR D SINCLAIR.

Hidden's Magnetic Compound positively cures nervous diseases, paralysis, rheumatism, neuralgia, female weakness, heart disease, all diseases of the blood, liver and kidneys, and nervous troubles of every name and nature. All druggists, $1. IT MAKES COMING MEDICINE. Try

THE REVOLUTION IN HONOLULU.

Revolutionists Overthrow the Government of Hawaii.

Queen's Attempt to Abolish the Constitution the Cause.

Movement Made for Annexation to the United States.

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal Jan 28 The Hawaiian steamer Claudine arrived at this port at two o'clock this morning with news of a revolution at Honolulu Revolutionists have succeeded in overthrowing the government of Hawaii United States troops have been landed, a provisional government has been established and a commission headed by Mr Thurston came in on the Claudine enroute to Washington with a petition to the American government to annex Hawaiian island to the United States

Additional Information

The first intimation of the trouble came Jan 14, when the Queen tried to get the cabinet to sign the new constitution that disfranchised all foreigners, and put the whole government in the hands of the native politicians, The ministers refused and when threatened by the Queen, fled for their lives They returned later and induced the Queen to postpone the con[illegible]

There was a public meeting in front of the palace The Queen announced the failure of her plans and a native orator demanded the lives of the minister

Early in the evening citizens met and formed a committee of Public Safety On January 16 a mass meeting was held in the Armory About 5 o'clock p m, the United States Steamship Boston landed 300 men fully armed They marched to the office of the Consul General of the United States The marines were sent to the American legation, while the sailors marched out along Merchant street with two gattling guns and camped for a time on private grounds They stayed ashore all night All day Tuesday the 18th, the community was looking to the committee of the public safety to do something to end the tension The committee in the meantime was not idle, being occupied completing its organization and completing the final arrangements necessary to a proclamation of the provisional government and its protection by assured force

About 2 30 o'clock an attempt was made by three native policemen to arrest the progress of the wagon which was driven up North street by Mr Brenher and Mr Good Those in charge of the wagon resisted the attempt of the officers to arrest its course One of the officers making a motion to draw a revolver Mr Good drew his own and fired but did not inflict any dangerous wound In the meantime the committee of public safety accompanied by members of the government about to be formed, proceeded to the government building There a proclamation was read of which the chief points are as follows

1st The Hawaiian monarchial system of government is hereby abrogated

2d A provisional government for the control and management of public affairs and protection of public peace is hereby established to exist until a union with the United States of America has been negotiated and agreed upon

3d Such provisional government shall consist of an executive council of four members, who shall administer to the executive departments of the government with an advisory council of fourteen who shall have general legislature for authority

4th All officers of the government are to exercise their functions except the Queen Marshal Wilson and the Cabinet went to the palace and submitted their plan to the Queen She refused at first to yield but finally retired to her country residence Her troops surrendered and the government was in the hands of the foreigners

Mr Thurston was seen at the Occidental Hotel San Francisco, this morning He said We shall probably start for Washington to-day Our mission is to secure annexation to the United States We want no protectorate and no republic A republic would be worse than a monarchy, for the ignorant kanakas would burn I may say that the foreigners are unanimous in favor of annexation as the only hope for Hawaii

Private Intelligence

BOSTON Jan 28 A despatch received by Charles Brewer & Co, of this city, gives additional information The revolution in Hawaii occurred Jan 14, and was caused by an attempt of the Queen to abrogate the constitution and promulgate a new one The people then dethroned the Queen and placed S B Dole at the head of the Provisional government President Dole the despatch states, has been recognized by all the powers except England

The News Confirmed

WASHINGTON Jan 28 Mr Mott Smith Hawaiian Minister has received an official despatch confirming the report that the Hawaiian government has been overthrown and that commissioners from the new government are on their way to Washington from San Francisco to ask that Hawaii be annexed to the United States The State and Navy departments have been officially informed of the revolution

FOR EVIL DOING

Vice President Lovell Ousted from U S Book Company

NEW YORK, Jan. 28 The World says there is trouble in the United States Book Company, John W. Lovell, who organized the combination has been ousted from the vice-presidency An action for malfeasance in office will be brought against him. Edward Lange has resigned the treasurership

MAY BE FOUL PLAY.

Body of an Unknown Man Found

BOSTON, Jan 28. The dead body of an unknown man was found, this morning, frozen on a cake of ice in Mystic river, near Mystic wharf, Charlestown. There was a large gash on the top of his head. The police are investigating.

He Objected to Cats

"Cats!" cried a tipsy man on the Ninth avenue "L" road yesterday.

A young woman with a basket on her arm sat in the seat next to him. She had a kitten in the basket and its wailing seemed to annoy the man a great deal.

"Say, guard " he shouted, "here's a cat traveling without a ticket Get his fare!"

"I guess it's my cat," retorted the indignant young woman, "and he's a gentleman, you bet. You're not!"

The inebriate didn't answer her directly, but continued to repeat "Cats!"

"If you don't shut up, I'll scratch your eyes out!" screamed the woman. And the next time he attempted to utter the objectionable word, she pulled a black cat out of the basket and threw it at his face. The cat's paws caught in the man's whiskers, and for a while there was a free fight, in which the drunken man, the guard, the woman and the cat participated. Finally, however, the guard asserted his authority, and when the next station was reached, man, woman and cat were put off.

PURSUED AND CAPTURED.

Two Masked Men Rob a Kansas Bank.

WAVERLY, Kan, Jan 28 Yesterday afternoon, two masked men entered the bank of Waverly and covering the cashier and his assistant with revolvers proceeded to rob the vault and cash drawer They then ran for their horses and galloped off They were pursued by a crowd of citizens and many shots were fired on both sides One of the pursuers was stabbed in the hear and killed Both robbers horses were shot dead, and the desperadoes were captured and put in jail They belong in Franklin County

AN ODD SHIPWRECK

It Was Caused by the Ice in Behring Sea

Voyagers in Arctic waters have some queer and often dangerous experiences among the ice fields and bergs which moved by varying winds and currents drift about in a most erratic fashion For days there will be no ice in sight, and then within a few hours the ship will be surrounded by it Ten years ago the steam whaler Bowhead, the finest vessel of her class furnished an instance of the uncertainty that attends navigation in these waters

She had been lucky in securing whales, and while still continuing her operations had shipped a great quantity of bone to San Francisco One day her captain, wishing to repair the boiler which was leaking, blew it down, and, as the afternoon was dead calm and as no other ice was in sight made the steamer fast to an iceberg.

As the Bowhead lay thus helpless having neither wind nor steam a floe appeared bearing straight down upon her She crashed against the iceberg and her stern was cut completely off, so that she sank within fifteen minutes There was barely time for all hands to get out of her upon the ice where later they were found and taken off by another whaler

The United States Revenue steamer Corwin had some narrow escapes in her early voyaging in Bering Sea Three times she was abandoned in the pack but somehow always avoided disaster, and brought her company safely home Perhaps the closest shave she ever had occurred one fine day in the summer of 188[illegible] when being short of fresh water her captain ran her port bow alongside an iceberg and sent the men to a basin upon the ice with buckets to pass the water down

The ship's stern was swung some fifty feet away from the berg, and her boats on that side were lowered The sea was as smooth as glass, and as the taking aboard of water required little supervision The captain was below reading Lieutenant Kennedy, in the shaft alley was developing photographic plates In the port gangway Lieutenant Cantwell was busy skinning a bird which he proposed to set up while most of the other officers distributed around below decks reading writing or sleeping

Suddenly without warning a part of the iceberg, weighing at least 100 tons split off and fell with a thundering splash just between the ship and the berg It missed the Corwin by about three feet, and the lurch of the ship in the tremendous surge was something that no one on board will ever forget

Cantwell with his bird went heels over head to leeward the captain was thrown from the cabin transom to the floor and when Kennedy appeared from the shaft alley with a dry plate in one hand and a bottle of developing mixture in the other, his manner certainly lacked repose But few of the ship's company saw the fall of the huge fragment, and the others unable to imagine what had happened, were filled with consternation

In two or three seconds the submerged mass of ice came up directly under the Corwin's keel lifted her stern into the air and sent her bows down till the water was up to the forehatch The steamer slid off the smooth lump head first, as if she were going to the bottom but righted herself and shook the water from her decks

Finding the ship unhurt with only the line parted, the crew regained their presence of mind, made the vessel fast to the berg and completed the taking aboard of water without further mishap

MAINE MELANGE.

A Chapter of Serious Accidents to Report.

News of Interest from Different Plans.

Cumberland

Portland has a new plan for the much needed opera house, it being reported that a syndicate wants to buy the property now occupied by the United States Hotel and the Perry House, remove the old buildings, and put up a fine block with stores and offices in the front and opera house in the rear to be reached by a passage from Elm street At present a difference of $50 000 stands between the would be buyers and the owner of the property

As Benjamin Green was driving up Union street Brunswick, Thursday forenoon, one of the reins broke and the pair of horses which he was driving became unmanageable The scene of the runaway was near the railroad crossing The gate man attempted to catch the horses, but was unable to stop them At the crossing the occupants of the sleigh two ladies and Mr Green were spilled but without receiving injuries The animals dashed up the Lewiston track One of them ran into two switches and was badly cut fourteen stitches being taken in the wound The train for Portland was just on the point of leaving but was waited until the excitement was over and the track cleared

A circular has been issued by the Maine Central Railroad stating that the company has concluded to issue 5 000 shares of stock of the par value of $100 each for the purpose of providing for the cost of double tracking a portion of its main line and for other contemplated improvements The stock will be delivered April 1, 1893 and it will be entitled to any dividends declared after that date Subscriptions may be made for fractional parts of a share and scrip will be issued for such fractions but no dividends will be paid on the scrip and the stock into which it is exchanged will be entitled to dividends only from the date of its issue All subscriptions must be received on or before Monday February 20, 1893

Gayton Sawyer a well known young man of Haverhill met with a serious accident in Portland Wednesday afternoon which will probably result in his losing his left arm For some time past he has been working on a B & M shifter at the freight yard in Portland and while attempting to couple cars his left arm was caught between the bumpers and mangled His cries were heard by his fellow employes and fainting from loss of blood he was taken to the depot nearby, where his wounds were dressed He was taken home in the evening, but as he was suffering excruciating pain had to be put under the influence of opiates Attended by his brother William Sawyer he went to the Massachusetts General Hospital, where an operation was performed

INDICTED THE COAL DEALERS

Rochester's Grand Jury Thinks the Price Has Been Raised Once Too Often

ROCHESTER, N Y Jan 28 Coal dealers in this city have forced up the price of coal so high that the people can hardly afford to burn the stuff It leaked out several days ago that the Grand Jury which has been in session several weeks was considering the question of indicting the members of the local Coal Exchange When the jury rose this evening and marched into the Circuit Court room, they handed up a bundle of indictments one of which charges eighteen members of the exchange with conspiracy The indicted men are

Charles Phillips Henry N Schlick S B Stuart, George Fogett, James McGuire James F Gallery, John H Foley Charles Bradshaw, A F [illegible] Charles H Babcock, W C Dickson, Henry F Doyle H [illegible] Drake, Louis C Lange, Thomas H McGuire, Jacob Odenback, Louis Ellerman Arthur C Yates

The charge is made that these men "conspired together for the purpose of preventing free competition in the sale of coal among the consumers of the city, and not being content with the prices for which they and other persons were accustomed to sell and receive for coal but contriving and contending unlawfully unjustly and oppressively to increase and advance enhance and augment the rates and prices in and about the city, to counteract overcome and destroy the effect of free competition among themselves and others in the sale of coal in the city and vicinity and thereby to exact, procure, obtain and receive great sums of money from the users and consumers of coal

There are fifty-eight members of the Exchange, and there is some speculation as to why the Grand Jury did not find indictments against the others The Secretary of the Exchange, Harry Stedman escapes without indictment

In the presentment the Grand Jury goes for the Western Anthracite Coal Committee It specifically charges that E R. Holden, representing the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western, Thomas F Torrey, representing the Delaware and Hudson Canal Company W H Sayer representing the Lehigh Valley Coal Company, W Van Zandt, representing Stickney, Cunningham & Co W E Sweet, representing the Pennsylvania Coal Company and others raised the price of coal on various dates at meetings held at the Fifth Avenue Hotel, New York.

THE BANCROFT'S SUCCESSFUL TRIAL

It Exceeds the Requirements at Every Point—Records Broken

NEWPORT, R I, Jan 28 The last speed trial of the practice ship Bancroft took place to-day It was a continuous four hours' run The weather was bright and there was a steady breeze from the west. The course was south and east, quarter east, seaward from this port The start was begun at 9 o'clock.

The propeller made 225 revolutions with the steam at 165 pounds, the speed being fifteen knots. The pressure varied from 160 to 165 pounds throughout the run and the speed varied from 14¼ to 4½ knots for each hour.

By the end of the four hours the ship was sixty miles to sea and then, at 1 o'clock, the prow was turned towards Newport. The engines worked perfectly A glass of water filled to the brim was on the deck throughout the trip and not a drop was spilled.

The temperature of the fire rooms was 80 degrees. Forty-five pounds of coal were consumed to a square foot in the grates. Four men and an oiler only were all the force required for the fire-room. The developed horse power was 1,200. Taking the workings of the two engines, the register was, starboard, 223 005; port, 221.002, or a mean average of 222 333. This gave a speed of 14.4 knots, while the contract calls for 12 only. The contractors thus get $45,000.

On the trip homeward the signal was suddenly given to stop and to back the Bancroft at full speed. This was accomplished in 12 seconds, being the best trial trip record for a war vessel with twin screws.

Another time the signal was given to stop and go ahead at full speed and this was performed in eleven seconds.

The majority of the Board of Inspectors left for New York to-night.

DRAWING TO A CLOSE.

Ice Operations Progressing Well and Nearing Completion.

January 6 was the date on which the first ice from the Penobscot was housed this year and within ten days of that time all the companies along the river with a few exceptions were in operation Now the work is drawing to a close and many thousand tons of the clear blue crystal commodity are safely stowed away in the capacious houses for shipment next summer Some of the firms have already completed their operations others finish soon and the end of this week will see most of them done

The ice is of excellent quality ranging from 15 to 23 inches in thickness and averaging about 20 though much of it is thicker clear and blue It has been put up under most satisfactory conditions there having been but little snow and it has been secured at a low cost The weather has been fine and were it a year during which a great demand for ice was expected, an enormous crop could have been housed A WHIG reporter visited the various plants and found matters progressing

As is Told Below

The New England Ice Company has finished its operations and completed filling its houses Friday after ten days work They hold about 12 000 tons The Union Ice Company has had a crew at work on its upper houses for about two weeks and a crew begins on the lower plant Monday The houses altogether hold 48,000 tons and it is the intention of the company to fill them if a heavy snow fall does not come in which case this and other firms will curtail its cut The Dirigo Ice Company has its houses something over half full and will finish putting up 2 000 tons which it is to house by the end of the week

The Arctic Ice Company has been at work since the 12th inst and will finish next Wednesday with 16 000 tons The Orrington Ice Company will get probably 28 000 tons and will get through by the end of the week The C G Stearns Company is filling all of its houses except a part at the lower end of a capacity of [illegible] 000 tons and will get 2 000 tons They will probably finish by the last of the week or the first of the following The [illegible] Ice Company proposes to fill its new 40 000 ton plant and will have it done by next Tuesday or Wednesday Here the cakes go up the elevator at the rate of 2 000 tons a day

Across the River

At M [illegible] D Sargents Sons house the work has been completed and about 1[illegible] 000 tons something over half the capacity has been put up The crew has been transferred to the lower Union plant Messrs Hodgkins & Hill ceased work on account of the striking of the crew some time since and have but few thousand tons Messrs J [illegible] Ayer & Co finished at their lower plant Saturday About 50 000 tons will have been housed in [illegible] days and on some days in the neighborhood of 22 000 or 23 000 tons has gone in in a single day Work at the Dyer Cove houses were also be completed Saturday and 20 000 tons have been secured

The Katahdin Ice Company's plant is shut down just at present owing to a break in the machinery but it may start up again Monday, it is understood if new machinery arrives If it does not come the concern will probably cease housing, without a full crop for its 40 000 ton house Messrs E & I K Stetson were the first to begin housing on the river and have finished having 21 000 tons in their building 14 000 short of the capacity Messrs J H & H Rollins have also finished after ten days work and have 14 000 tons The Boston & Bangor Steamship Company and Mr F W Doherty finished their operations some time since

is now estimated from figures secured by THE WHIG reporter at the various plants will be in the neighborhood of 320 000 tons if the weather hold good If much snow comes or anything else occurs to increase the cost of the ice the total will be lessened as it is an off year and the dealers will not incur the risk of disposing of their crop at a smaller margin The above figures are 100 000 tons short of the total capacity of the plant on the river

Her Wrecked Life

The will of old Mrs Catherine Deckman has been found She was found last summer dead in a corn field at Egg Harbor a few hundred yards from the hovel in which she had lived for years The will was made several years ago and left in charge of a Philadelphia lawyer She afterward wrote to friends in Germany that she had left it with this lawyer Her death was unknown to them until a few weeks ago

The will shows that the old woman was worth at least $10 000, all of which she bequeathed to relatives in Germany $2 500 of this in ready cash deposited in a Philadelphia bank She also had a valuable tract of land in Egg Harbor City and a legacy of several thousand dollars in Germany, notice of which she received some years ago but had never claimed

For years she lived in her tumble down hut with a bunch of old rags for a bed She denied herself food When she was found there was not a scrap to eat in the house, although a considerable sum of money was found on her person Twenty years ago she was prosperous and happy Her husband afterward eloped with another woman, taking their only child with him This crushed the wife who refused to mingle with or talk with any person, and so lived and died in solitude

Tributes to Mr. Blaine.

The Boston [illegible] of Saturday contained some very earnest tributes to the memory of Mr. Blaine from friends who knew him intimately during his lifetime. Among the number we find the following:

Representative Boutelle said: "My [illegible] of personal bereavement renders it difficult for me to speak calmly of the death which will carry profound sorrow to the hearts of millions of our countrymen. No [illegible] man in our history has inspired and steadfastly retained so great a degree of popularity as that which has for twenty years imparted a magic spell to the name of [illegible] Blaine. It is too soon for [illegible] to attempt to put a measure [illegible] greatness, but it is safe to say [illegible] character and career [illegible] grandest will be the place [illegible] them in the annals of the most [illegible] period in our national life.

"It is probable that his great qualities as a leader were never so conspicuously displayed as when presiding over the House of Representatives. He was a [illegible] leader of men and his control of this body in times of great political excitement was as marvellous as it was superb. [illegible] scene in the Forty-third Congress which displayed his great powers as a parliamentarian and his mastery over men.

"The day session had been a stormy one, full of acrimony, and was prolonged far into the night. Mr. Blaine was absent in the early part of the evening. As the hours wore on the House became more and more turbulent, until the temporary presiding officer lost all control over the body, and it became a wild, uncontrollable mob, apparently hopelessly involved in parliamentary entanglements. All business was suspended.

"A messenger was despatched for Mr. Blaine with the announcement that the House had gone to pieces. Soon after he entered the chamber, in full evening dress, and, springing with a bound into the Speaker's desk, seized the gavel and, by his masterful presence, quelled the storm. Then, holding a hurried consultation with the Clerk to learn the status of affairs, he quickly unraveled every parliamentary complication and brought order out of chaos.

"It was the most thrilling scene I ever witnessed. Take him, all and all, we shall not look upon his like again.

Congressman Blount of Georgia, in speaking of Mr. Blaine, says:

"Mr. Blaine was one of the most gifted of Americans. Thoroughly conversant with the public men his country has produced, and with all the great events of its history, he took from them an inspiration which revealed the genius of our institutions and all its glorious possibilities. Whether he acted his part in the halls of legislation, or in the fields of diplomacy, there was always seen the princely grace and the power of his wonderful intellectuality. No narrowness of thought cursed him with sectionalism. No malignity of nature restrained his sympathy with his fellow-man. As a writer he was chaste, graceful, grand. As a debater, he reveled in almost boundless information, which an almost superhuman memory held ready for his use, and which his rapid perception selected with marvelous aptness in his contests with the greatest men of his time. As a Southerner, I wish to say that admiration for his genius and generous nature, will long live in thousands of Southern homes whose occupants did not accept his political tenets."

Senator Hoar: "Mr Blaine was a learned man in American political history. He had the knowledge always at his command. It lent a great charm to his familiar conversation at his own table where he was the most charming of hosts, and in society, where he was the most sought for of guests.

"I think it a great pity that he was never elected President. I think his pilotage would have steered the vessel of the republic safely and in glory. The bitterness of political hate, and the wrong judgment of the men who disliked him would have been alike disappointed. His administration of the Department of State, to which he was twice called, and in which he was twice compelled to abandon his high office prematurely, once by the death of Garfield, and afterward by his own ill health, was enough to show how mistaken were those who expected a quarrelsome, sensational, fickle and feeble administration of the foreign affairs of the country.

"I suppose our relations with all the Governments of the earth were never in more satisfactory condition than during Mr. Blaine's term of office. He had at the same time cultivated the friendship of foreign Governments and never lowered the dignity of his own. The policy of reciprocity which he first suggested many years ago, and which was incorporated into recent legislation through his urgent, personal appeal, I believe must endure, and will be a proud monument to his memory."

The great WASTE of water threatens the entire suspension of water from breaking down of the pumps. During the last twenty-four hours more water was pumped than ever before in the same time, an average of 150 gallons per head in 24 hours. The average in the city of New Bedford is only 85 gallons per head.

The works are unable, with such waste, to supply the houses on the elevations. The occupants complain, and justly.

FIRE IN ELLSWORTH.

The Franklin House Damaged Saturday.

ELLSWORTH, Jan. 28. The Franklin House was damaged to-day by fire and water to the extent of $2,500, which is partially insured. The cause was a defective chimney.

CAPT. WM. T. GLIDDEN.

His Death takes place in Newcastle.

DAMARISCOTTA, Jan. 28. Capt. William T. Glidden, an old and respected citizen of Newcastle and a representative of one of its oldest families, died to-day in that town at the advanced age of eighty-seven years. In early life he followed the sea and soon became master of a ship. After many successful voyages he settled in Boston, where for more than forty years he was a prominent merchant as senior member of the Boston firm of Glidden & Williams. He was largely interested in navigation and railroad enterprises. He passed most of his summers in Newcastle, his native town, and always manifested a deep interest in its affairs. He is survived by one son, John M. Glidden, Esq., of Newcastle, and three daughters. The funeral services will be held on Wednesday at St. Andrew's Episcopal church.

PENSIONS GRANTED.

Additional to Residents of Maine.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 29. The following pensions have been granted to residents of Maine:

Original, William C. Stevens; re-issue, George W. McIntyre; original, widows, etc., Hattie S. Gilman, Hannah B. Briggs, Nancy Pushaw (mother).

DIED FAR FROM HOME

Warren Mansur, Formerly of Houlton, Dies in California.

MEDFORD, Mass., Jan. 28. Word has been received of the death, in California, of Warren Mansur, manager of the United States Banking Company which has a branch in Charlestown. Mansur has been in California for his health. He was a native of Houlton, Me., and was formerly in the lumber business there and formerly captain of the Second Maine Cavalry.

OFF FOR HONOLULU.

United States Warship Ordered to Sea.

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 28. The flag-ship Mohican and the war-ship Ranger, now at Mare Island, have been ordered to sea immediately. The Mohican will go direct to Honolulu. The Ranger will proceed to San Francisco and await orders. The Mohican sails at 5 o'clock this afternoon. The commissioners from the Hawaiian Islands to negotiate for annexation to the United States have decided to leave here to-morrow afternoon via Chicago and will reach Washington on Friday.

EXPRESS TRAIN WRECKED.

One Man Killed and Thirty Others Injured.

ST. PAUL, Minn., Jan. 28. Near Kent, Ill., to-day, a train of the Chicago Great Western Railway met with an accident. The train was a lumberman's excursion returning from Chicago. At the point named the first three coaches on the train were thrown from the track by a broken rail. The baggage car and forward coach went down the embankment and tipped over on their sides but the two following coaches went down the embankment and remained upright. W. E. Acker, of Minneapolis, was killed and thirty injured, none of whom will die. A doctor was on the train and assisted in caring for the wounded.

SUDDEN DEATH

Of a British Commissioner in Chicago.

CHICAGO, Jan. 29. George G. Grover, British royal commissioner to the World's Fair Columbian Exposition, was found dead in his room at his hotel this morning. Heart disease is the supposed cause. Col. Grover has been in the Egyptian army since 1858 and was twice decorated for distinguished service in the Suakim and Tel-El-Kebir expeditions. He came to this country a year ago to take charge of the construction of the Victoria House and the Egyptian exhibitions.

A CLEVER SCHEME.

But They were Caught at It—Pool Room Swindled.

NEW YORK, Jan. 29. Jacob McGuire, Thomas Russell, John Ward, Charles Martin and Richard Smyth were arraigned in the police court to-day charged with tapping the Western Union telegraph wires. Ward on Thursday last hired a room on the top floor of Springler's Hotel. Smyth on the same day called at the hotel and representing that he was a lineman, got permission to go upon the roof to fix the wires.

He tapped the wire which was connected with Peter Dowey's pool room and then ran a contraband wire into Ward's room. Ward, with the assistance of the other prisoners, did a rushing business, until they were arrested Saturday night. Dowey's pool room is said to have lost several thousand dollars. Ward, Martin and Smyth, it is said, have been wanted before on similar charges. Ward's trunk contained a complete battery and telegraphic outfit.

TYPHUS FEVER

Appeared in Bellevue Hospital.

NEW YORK, Jan. 29. Typhus fever has appeared at Bellevue hospital and the property is placed under quarantine. One employe has already died and to-day there were reported 26 suspected cases.

CALL FOR TROOPS.

Strikers Assume Threatening Attitude at Dunkirk, N. Y.

DUNKIRK, N. Y., Jan. 29. A strike was caused at Brooks' locomotive works a month ago by the riveters in the boiler department refusing to work under two contractors, alleging inhuman treatment. Lack of boilers made it necessary to lay off about sixty men. The Brooks' people yesterday brought Philadelphia men here to take the strikers' places and they are quartered at the works. Yesterday President Hinman received information that threats had been made against the works and against employes and the protection of Sheriff Jenner was asked.

That official appealed to Gen. Doyle at Buffalo for State troops in case they were needed. Gen. Doyle has ordered the 13th Separate company, of Jamestown, and the 74th Regiment, of Buffalo, to hold themselves in readiness to go to Dunkirk, if necessary. Last night two of the men ventured outside the enclosure of the works and were set upon and severely handled. The call for troops has caused much excitement here.

HELD BY ICE.

Harbor Near New York Packed Solid.

CITY ISLAND, N. Y., Jan. 28. The northeast wind has packed the ice in this harbor.

The William Churchill and Abner Taylor, before reported here ice-bound, left this morning for New York, and are now stuck in the masses of ice between here and Throgg's Neck.

Arrived here: United States steamer Fern, from Newport; tug Fred B. Ives from New Haven, with 15 barges; steamer Manhattan, from Bridgeport, with two barges. They came to anchor off this station. Also tug Harold, for New London, with three barges; tug Gertrude for New London.

Messages of Sympathy for Blaine Family.

Arrangements for the Last Sad Rites Completed.

Loving Tribute of Flowers Sent by Sorrowing Friends.

Attendance at the Funeral Obliged To Be Limited.

Maine Delegation to Attend Services at House.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 28. The decorations of the Church of the Covenant for the funeral of Mr. Blaine will be under the charge of George H. Brown, the public gardener. There will be palms and ferns from the Agricultural Department and botanical gardens and cut flowers from the propagating gardens in the department of the engineer in charge of the public buildings and grounds of the District of Columbia. The designs are not yet complete; but they will include the banking of the rail which divides the choir gallery from the pulpit. Large quantities of flowers have already been sent to the house and these, with what may come latter, will doubtless occupy all the available space about the chancel rail that can be spared for their accommodation.

The following gentlemen will act as ushers: Messrs. Robert S. Chilton, Horace Washington, Clifford Richardson, W. W. Stevens, Sevellon Brown, Andrew Allen, Wm. Haywood, Sydney Smith, Frank C. Partridge, Capt. A. C. Tyler, Capt. Alexander Rodgers, Lieut. Buckingham, Lieut. T. S. Rodgers and Dr. Francis B. Loring.

The Church of the Covenant contains 770 seats, but this number can be increased to about 1,000 by the use of chairs and stools, hence the necessity of confining admission to the building on the occasion of the funeral, as without some such restrictions ten times that number would vainly strive for entrance.

A committee of 25 representing the Union League Club of New York, will attend the funeral. Among them will be Cornelius N. Bliss, S. V. R. Cruger, Logrand B. Cannon, Chauncey M. Depew, Joel B. Erhardt, Thomas L. James, A. G. McCook, Warner Miller and Whitelaw Reid.

Telegrams of condolence from every part of the United States and from foreign countries continue to pour in.

Memorial Services to be Held in Augusta.

AUGUSTA, Me., Jan. 28. Blaine memorial services will be held by the citizens of Augusta at the Congregational church, of which Mr. Blaine was a member, during the hours of the funeral. The exercises consist of a burial service all the pastors being invited, also brief addresses by ex-Senator James W. Bradbury, Hon. O. D. Baker, Hon J. Manchester Haynes and Hon. H. M. Heath. The exercises will be as simple as possible. Places of business will be closed during the hours of 11 A. M. and 2 P. M. Many places are already draped in mourning.

Committee Appointed to Report Resolutions.

CONCORD, N. H., Jan. 28. At the session of the House this forenoon, the following introduced by Mr Woolworth, of Concord, was adopted:

Resolved, That the Speaker be authorized to appoint a committee of five, with such as the Senate may join, to report resolutions expressive of the sentiment of the Legislature of the life and character of James G. Blaine. Speaker Chamberlain appointed Messrs. Woodward and Gilmore, of Manchester, Foster, of Dover, Nash, of Conway, and Keyes, of Haverhill, as such committee.

Massachusetts' Deep Sympathy.

BOSTON, Jan. 28. Gov. Russell to-day, sent the following message to Mrs. Blaine:

STATE HOUSE,
COMMONWEALTH OF MASSACHUSETTS,
BOSTON, Jan. 28, 1893.

To Mrs. James G. Blaine:

Accept the warmest sympathy of all the people of the Commonwealth in your great sorrow. Massachusetts joins her sister States in the appreciation of the distinguished statesmanship and public service of your husband.

WM. E. RUSSELL,
Governor.

Postoffices will not Close.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 28. The order of the President closing the executive departments on Monday, the day of Mr. Blaine's funeral, is not construed to mean the closing of custom houses, sub-treasuries and postoffices throughout the country.

Honor to His Memory.

LANSING, Mich., Jan. 29. Yesterday the Governor issued a proclamation eulogizing the late James G. Blaine and ordered the flags on the state house and all state institutions to be half masted until after the funeral. The capitol will be draped and all the state departments closed during the funeral services Monday.

The Services in Augusta.

AUGUSTA, Me., Jan. 29. The clergymen of all the churches to-day made special reference to the deaths of Mr. Blaine and Bishop Brooks. At several special Blaine memorial service were held. Mr. Blaine was a member of the Congregationalist church here. Services will be held on Monday at eleven in the forenoon. All places of business and schools will be closed. Ex-United States Senator J. W. Bradbury, Hon. J. Manchester Haynes, Hon. O. D. Baker and Hon. H. M. Heath will speak.

Arrangements for the Funeral.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 29. The body of ex-Secretary Blaine was this evening removed to the parlor on the north side of the second floor of the residence. The windows of this room open out upon Lafayette Square. Across this plot of ground stands the State, War and Navy buildings. During the afternoon and evening a number of Mr. Blaine's friends called at the house and took a last look at the face of the departed. The expression of the face is peaceful and the lineaments showed but few traces of the ravages of disease.

The casket is almost buried under the mass of floral tributes. It lies in the room where the first prayers of the funeral services will be said by Rev. Dr. Teunis S. Hamlin, at 11 to-morrow. Although the funeral will be a private one, attendance upon the services will be as truly national in the representative character as if a President were being buried.

The State of Maine

will send a delegation of fourteen, headed by Governor Cleaves; Massachusetts will have a delegation of five; the Union League Club of New York will send 25 members and the Union League Club of Philadelphia, twenty. From some other points in Pennsylvania will come delegations from various societies. Altogether a hundred or more representatives will be present.

Personal friends to the number of 65 have notified the family of their intention to be present from various parts of the country.

The Maine delegation will be invited to attend the services at the house. Not more than forty or fifty persons will be present there.

The services at the church, as well as those at the house, will be strictly private and no one will be admitted who has not received an invitation.

The family regret that this must be so, as they appreciate the desire and motives of the people who would pay their tribute of respect by their presence to the dead statesman, but the seating and the large number of delegations and officials to be provided for, leave no room for the general public. The first eight rows of seats in the main body are set aside for the family, relatives and pall bearers.

Capacity of the Church is Limited

Behind them, in order, will be seated the President, Vice President, Cabinet Officers, Speaker Crisp and members of the Supreme Court with their families. In the rear will sit the Senators and Representatives, but no provision can be made for their families. On the south side of the church will be seated members of various delegations and on the north side personal friends who have received invitations. The applications for tickets to the church already received, if granted, would leave no room for even the family.

The Pall Bearers

will be Senators Frye and Hale, of Maine, and Morgan, of Alabama; Representatives Reed and Boutelle, of Maine; Hitt, of Illinois, and Bingham, of Pennsylvania; General Thomas Ewing, of Ohio; John Hay, of Washington; Joseph H. Manley, of Maine; Almet F. Jenks, of Brooklyn; P. V. P. Ely, of Boston.

CONGRESSIONAL.

Immigration Question and Panama Inquiry Discussed.

Senate.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 28. The army appropriation bill was reported from the Committee on Appropriations, and was placed on the calendar. This is the first general appropriation bill reported to the Senate during the present session.

It was ordered that when the Senate adjourn to-day, it be to meet at 2 o'clock on Monday, so as to give Senators an opportunity to attend the funeral of Mr. Blaine.

Mr. Chandler offered a resolution, which was agreed to, calling on the Secretary of the Treasury for information as to the rules and regulations in existence at the port of New York, for the prevention of the introduction of contagious or infectious diseases and to the precautions against such diseases prescribed to be observed at the ports of departure and by what authority such rules and regulations have been established.

Mr. Dolph offered a resolution, which was referred to the Committee on Commerce authorizing that committee to hold sessions during the recess anywhere in the United States and inquire into the expenditures for rivers and harbors.

The Senate then went into executive session, and when the doors were opened, adjourned.

House.

Mr. Catchings, of Missouri, offered a resolution providing that a special committee of five be appointed to investigate and report as to what sums of money, if any, were expended by the Panama Canal Company, directly or indirectly, for the purpose of preventing opposition in this country to its plans or for securing acquiescence; also as to contracts and relations between the Pacific Mail Steamship Company and the Southern Railroad Company, the Transcontinental Railroad Association and other railroads, with regard to traffic by the way of the Panama canal. Adopted.

In order to permit the members of the House to attend the funeral of the late James G. Blaine, it was ordered that when the House adjourn to-day it be to meet at 2 o'clock Monday. The House then proceeded to the consideration of the sundry civil appropriation bill in committee of the whole and after several amendments had been proposed and rejected, the committee rose. Public business was suspended and tributes of respect were paid to the late Mr. E. S. Stackhouse, of South Carolina. The House adjourned to 2 P. M. Monday.

TO REGULATE IMMIGRATION.

Provisions of the Bill Reported by Senator Chandler.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 28. Senator Chandler to-day reported to the Senate from the Immigration Committee a bill establishing additional regulations concerning immigration.

The bill is a substitute for the original bill introduced by Mr. Chandler at the beginning of the present month. It has no relation to the quarantine bill recently passed by the House, although it is probably the intention of the Senate to allow it to replace all of the immigration features embodied in that bill when they have been stricken from the House bill later on.

The bill amends the immigration laws in the following particulars:

To the excluded classes are added all persons physically capable and over 12 years of age who cannot read and write with reasonable facility in their own language, except aged persons who are the parents or grandparents of eligible immigrants; persons blind or crippled, or otherwise physically imperfect, so that they are wholly or partially disabled from manual labor, unless it is shown that they are sure of abundant support; persons belonging to societies which favor or justify unlawful destruction of life and property.

Intending immigrants are required to sign a declaration giving all the particulars of nativity and residence.

United States consuls may also issue to intending immigrants certificates, upon due investigation, showing that they are eligible to entry, but these certificates are not to stop further inquiry by the customs officers at the port of entry.

The remainder of the bill relates to the space to be set apart on vessels for the immigrants, ventilation, etc.

BUSINESS TROUBLES.

Erie Car Works Seized.

ERIE, Pa., Jan. 29. The Erie car works, representing a $600,000 investment, were seized by the sheriff last night, upon executions amounting to $102,013 in favor of the Erie banks.

CARS IN COLLISION.

A Motor Man Badly Injured—Others Bruised.

ATTLEBORO, Mass., Jan. 29. Two cars on the street railway going in opposite directions, crashed into two others to-day, seriously injuring the motorman of the south bound car and bruising a dozen or more passengers. Both cars were badly damaged.

The Successful Revolution in Hawaii.

The People Desire to be Attached to United States.

Details of the Cause and Results of the Change.

A Commission in this Country to Ask for Annexation.

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 28. Another account of the Hawaii revolution says: Queen Liliuokalani attempted Saturday, Jan. 18th, to promulgate a new constitution depriving foreigners of the right of franchise and abrogating the existing house of nobles at the same time giving her the power of appointing a new house. This was resisted by the foreign element of the community, who at once appointed a committee of safety of 18 members, who called a mass meeting at which 1200 or 1500 were present. The meeting unanimously adopted resolutions condemning the action of the Queen and authorizing the committee to take into further consideration whatever was necessary to protect the public safety.

Monday the committee of public safety issued a proclamation to the Hawaiian people, recounting the history of the island and calling attention to the misrule of the native line of monarchs. The manifesto continues:

Upon the accession of Her Majesty, Liliuokalani, for a brief period the hope prevailed that a new policy would be adopted. This hope was soon blasted by her immediately entering into conflict with the existing cabinet, who had office with the approval of a large majority of the legislature, resulting in the triumph of the Queen and

A Removal of the Cabinet.

The appointment of a new cabinet subservient to her wishes and their continuance in office until a recent date gave no opportunity for further indication of the policy which would be pursued by Her Majesty until the opening of the legislature in May of 1892. Recent history of that session has shown a stubborn determination on the part of Her Majesty to follow the tactics of her late brother, and in all possible ways to secure the extension of royal prerogative and the abridgement of popular rights.

Five uprisings or conspiracies against the government have occurred within five years and seven months. It is firmly believed that the culminating revolutionary attempt of last Saturday, will, unless radical measures be taken, wreck our already damaged credit abroad and precipitate to final ruin our already overstrained financial condition, and guarantees of protection to life, to body and property will steadily decrease and the political situation is ### Rapidly Growing Worse.

In this belief and also in the firm belief that the action hereby taken is and will be for the best personal, political and property interests of every citizen of the land, we, the citizens and residents of the Hawaiian islands, organized and acting for public safety and the common good, hereby proclaim as follows: "The Hawaiian monarchial system of government is hereby abrogated. A provisional government for the control and management of public affairs and protection of public peace is hereby established, to exist until the terms of union with the United States of America have been negotiated and agreed upon.

"Such provisional government shall consist of an executive council of four members who are hereby declared to be S. B. Dole, J. A. King, P. C. Jones and W. O. Smith, who shall administer the government of the islands first named, acting as president and chairman of such council, administering the department of foreign affairs, and others severally administering the department of the interior, finance and attorney-general, respectively, according to the existing Hawaiian law as far as the law be consistent with this proclamation, and also of the which shall consist of fourteen members. Such advisory council shall also have general legislative authority. Such executive and advisory councils shall, acting jointly, have the power to remove any member of either council and to fill such or any other vacancy. All officers under the existing government are hereby requested to continue to exercise the functions and perform the duties of their respective offices except the following named persons: Queen Liliuokalani, the marshal, minister of foreign affairs, minister of finance, minister of the interior and attorney general, who are hereby removed from office."

The late Queen and cabinet accordingly yielded unconditionally. Before the coup d'etat attempted in the afternoon, and immediately after the House had been prorogued, Hui Kalaiaina marched over to the palace and presented the new constitution to the Queen with a petition that the same be promulgated to the people. A large crowd of Hawaiians had gathered around the palace, also the Government building yard and elsewhere in the neighborhood. The Queen retired to the blue room and summoned the ministers. She at once presented them with a draft of the new constitution and demanded their signatures, and declared the intention to

Promulgate the Same at Once.

Attorney General Peterson and Minister of the Interior Coburn decidedly refused to do so and Ministers Cornwell and Parker, though more hesitatingly, joined their colleagues in the refusal. All the cabinet strongly urged Her Majesty not to violate the law, but she was not to be dissuaded from her revolutionary course. Bringing her clenched hand down upon the table Queen Liliuokalani said: "Gentlemen, I do not wish to hear any more advice. I intend to promulgate this constitution and do it now."

Proceeding, she told the cabinet that unless they abandoned their resistance at once, she would go out upon the steps of the palace and tell the excited crowd that she wished to give them a new constitution, but that the ministers were inside the palace hindering her from doing it. The ministers remembered the riot at the court house, and the fate of the unlucky representatives who fell into the hands of the mob. They knew what the threat meant, and before it could be put into execution they fled for their lives. From the government buildings the ministers immediately sent word about the town asking the citizens what support the cabinet could expect in its begun by the Queen. Leading citizens of every political complexion hurried together at Hon W. O. Smith's office, and held hurried consultations as to the course to be pursued. Unanimity of sentiment, reigned such as has not been witnessed here for years and it was agreed without a dissenting voice to support the law and liberties of the people and resist the revolutionary encroachments of the Queen. Messages to this effect were at once dispatched to the cabinet.

The ministers now revisited the palace but with the apprehension that they would be taken into custody, even if they suffered no bodily harm. Great pressure was brought to bear upon Her Majesty to induce her to go no farther and retrace the revolutionary steps already taken. While her troops stood drawn up before the palace, waiting for the final word of command the Queen hesitated. A conference in the blue room lasted a long time, while the result trembled in the balance. She could not be induced to give up her unlawful project, but finally consented, with to the temporary postponement of the premeditated coup. The Queen was very angry when at 4 P. M. Saturday, she returned to the throne room where were assembled Hui Kalaiaina with most of the native members of the Legislature, the cabinet, the governor of Oahu, the young princess, Chief Justice Judd and Justice Bickerton, the staff, ladies of the Court, etc. She announced the date and announced to them the failure of her plan.

She said: "Return to your homes peaceably and quietly, and continue to look towards me, and I will look towards you. Keep me ever in your love. I am obliged to postpone the granting of the constitution for a few days. I must confer with my cabinet and when after you return home you may see it, receive it graciously. You save my love and with sorrow I now dismiss you." Mr. Dammanuno then began in a loud voice an which was suppressed. He demanded the lives of the members of the cabinet who had opposed the wishes of Her Majesty and declared that he thirsted for their blood. A few moments later the Queen went out upon the upper balcony of the palace and addressed the crowd. She told them that on account of the perfidy of her ministers she was unable to give them the constitution she had promised, but would take the earliest opportunity of procuring it for them. The crowd then gave three cheers.

It was at this juncture that the committee of public safety was formed and shortly afterwards the troops landed from the United States war ship Boston. An armed uprising of the citizens and the proclamation of the provisional government followed. The ex-Queen, seeing that resistance was hopeless, retired to her private residence and here a guard was stationed by the new government. There was no bloodshed.

Annexation to the United States as a territory is desired, not as a State.

The Troubles in Hawaii

"I hope the people here will see this matter in the right light," said W. C. Castle, one of the Hawaiian commissioners, to-day: "For over twelve years we have been living on the crust of a volcano under the rule of both Kalakaua and Liliuokani. It was Kalakua's aggressions which brought about the revolution of 1887 and the adoption of the present constitution. The constitution now presented by the Queen meant practically an absolute monarchy.

"It took away the elective franchise from the bulk of the foreign population. It provided that only native born citizens could have the right to vote. Not more than one third of the 15,000 white residents of the islands were born there. We have all the official communications from the provisional government to the State Department at Washington and propose to go there right off and do what we can to present our case."

Senate Debates the Question.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 28. The Senate had not been in session more than an hour to-day when Mr Morgan announced the intelligence of the Hawaiian revolution.

Although it could only be considered in an informal manner a debate was at once precipitated that occupied the greater part of the secret session. Generally the speeches seemed to favor either annexation or the establishment of a protectorate.

In opposition to these views, it was asserted that the debt of Hawaii amounted to more than three million, which was sufficient to cause this government to halt before assuming that load. It was also stated by other Senators that when we secured our coaling station at Pearl river harbor several years ago there was an agreement under which England, Germany, the United States and the other great powers agreed that they should keep their hands off, and permit Hawaii to ### Run Her Own Affairs.

In controverting this statement it was claimed that while there might have been a tacit understanding in that direction, it was not such a contract between powers as would preclude the United States, in the event of a request from the government of Hawaii, from exercising the power of annexation, if, indeed, there had ever been any understanding on the subject.

In support of the presumption that there was no agreement, it was shown that England had been for a year or so quietly, but industriously, making inroads in the islands and creating a feeling among the people of that country which was harmful and extremely prejudicial to the interests of the United States and her citizens, who had invested their money in the enterprises that were developing the island and increasing their trade and commerce.

The matter will, no doubt, be before the Senate in the usual way in the course of a few days, and an extended debate will be the result.

Favor Annexation of Hawaii.

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 29. Mayor Ellert yesterday issued an open letter to the Chamber of Commerce, Produce Exchange, Board of Trade and other commercial organizations, calling attention to the revolution in Hawaii and recommending joint action looking toward the annexation of Hawaii. The trustees of the Chamber of Commerce met and listened to the representations of the Hawaiian commissioners and then decided the calling of the Chamber Tuesday.

Nothing Heard from United States Officials.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 29. The Hawaiian revolution has been the absorbing topic of discussion here all day. In the face of the general protest stated to have been sent by the deposed Queen declaring that she yielded only to the superior force of the United States and appealing to the United States to reserve action and reinstate her in authority, it was expected that the specially chartered steamer which brought the news of the revolution would also bring some dispatch from Minister Stevens or Consul General Severance to the State Department.

Secretary Foster to-night said he had received no further information. It was also expected that the commander of the Boston would have transmitted to the Navy Department some detailed report of his action in landing the marines and practically taking control of the revolution, but no such report has yet been received.

BALLOT FOR SENATORS.

Struggles in Montana, North Dakota and Nebraska.

HELENA, Mont., Jan. 28. The joint ballot for Senator to-day resulted: Clark 20, Sanders 28, Dixon 11, Collins 1. No choice.

No Choice in Nebraska.

LINCOLN, Neb., Jan. 28. Powers received 44 and Paddock 24 for Senator at the legislative ballot to-day. No choice. Another attempt of the Republicans to hold a caucus proved unavailing.

No Choice.

BISMARCK, N. D., Jan. 28. The result of the 28th ballot in the senatorial fight, taken to-day, was as follows: Smith 26; Casey 37; Anderson 2; Roach 6; Lamour 10; Johnson 3; Muir 4. The Legislature then adjourned out of respect to Blaine, after adopting appropriate resolutions.

No One Elected.

OLYMPIA, Wash., Jan. 28. The Legislature in joint session to-day took the 35th and 36th ballots for United States Senator without making a choice.

FOREIGN NEWS.

Enormous Snow Storms in Southern Russia.

ODESSA, Jan. 29. Enormous quantities of snow have fallen in the valley of the Dnieper in Crimea and in other parts of Southern Russia. In the valley of the Dnieper the snow is on a level with the house tops. In the province 100,000 sheep have been killed.

Emperor William's Birthday.

BERLIN, Jan. 28. The 34th anniversary of Emperor William's birth was celebrated yesterday.

AMUSEMENTS.

Ullie Akerstrom.

To-night the favorite actress, Miss Ullie Akerstrom, will appear at the Opera House, and present for the first time in this city her new and successful drama, "Miss Rora."

Many have had the pleasure of seeing this talented actress before but not in a play of this kind, which is said to afford every opportunity for the display of her varied talents.

Wednesday afternoon, "Miss Rora" will be repeated, when special low prices have been made for the school children.

To-morrow evening, the well known comedy-drama, "A Little Busybody," will be offered, and the engagement will close on Wednesday evening with Miss Akerstrom's newest play, "That Smith Gal," which is said to have made a decided hit.

Notes.

The Opera House will be open every night this week except Thursday.

On Friday evening Frank Jones will present "Our Country Cousin," a play of New England life, introducing many scenic and mechanical effects.

Saturday evening, the Newell Bros., the only twins in the world, with a good company and a car load of scenery and effects, will appear in the new drama entitled "The Operator." Some very startling effects are introduced in the play. A special train will be run from Old Town on Saturday night.

LOCAL MATTERS.

Yesterday was Septuagesima Sunday in the church calendar.

The Women's Alliance will meet in the Memorial Parlors to-day at 3 P. M.

Some of the Bangor members of the Legislature passed Sunday at their homes in this city.

Mr. Lawrence, of the Theological Seminary, occupied Rev. S. D. Towne's pulpit at Old Town Sunday. Rev. Mr. Towne preached at Milltown, N. B.

Christian Endeavor Day this year occurs on Thursday, February 2d, and the societies in a number of places are making preparations for a suitable observance of it.

Miss Ullie Akerstrom and her company, who begin a three nights' engagement at the Opera House this evening, arrived in the city on last evening's train. The principals are at the Bangor House.

What might be called the January thaw began yesterday with soft weather and rain. If it is the proverbial January thaw it was just in the nick of time as a few days more would have made it a February thaw.

Fire destroyed the South Newburg cheese factory, owned by Mr. John Dearborn, Friday night. The loss is stated as about $2,000. At the time the fire began a dance was in progress in the second story of the building and the dancers had to make haste in their exit.

The thaw and rain of yesterday reduced the amount of snow quite considerably and put the sidewalks in such a very slippery condition that walking was not only a difficult but somewhat dangerous matter. It has been many a day since there has been any rain, until yesterday.

Sherburn Lodge of Good Templars will hold a public installation of officers at their hall at East Bangor next Wednesday evening. A fine programme has been arranged and delicious refreshments will be served during the evening. All neighboring lodges and the public are cordially invited.

Although ice is abundant in the East Penobscot bay, the west bay is practically clear of it, the only harbor that is seriously obstructed being Rockland, and the ice was softening there Saturday. The landings of the Boston boat are all clear and the river is open for some distance above Winterport.

Mr. Warren E. Cobb, whose laundry, the White Star, was burned out Friday night, has made arrangements with the Penobscot laundry to do work for his customers and Mr. Cobb will collect and deliver articles as usual. Telephone orders sent to his stable, telephone number 162-2, will receive prompt attention.

The matter of organizing a local union of the Christian Endeavor societies of Bangor and Brewer has been proposed, and is being talked over. A meeting is to be held this evening at 7 o'clock sharp, in the Y. M. C. A. building, at which all the societies are to be represented by committees appointed for that purpose to confer in regard to the matter.

Messrs. Pullen, Tuck, Cushing and Todd returned Saturday from Bar Harbor where they furnished music for a ball Friday night. The occasion was a return dance for the leap year ball given by the "E. O. M.'s" a few weeks ago and it was a very pleasant affair. There was quite a large attendance and the event passed off very successfully. Refreshments were served at intermission.

A number of the store windows were draped in mourning Saturday out of respect to the memory of the late Hon. James G. Blaine and large portraits of the distinguished statesman were used in each instance. The most elaborate draping was in the large window facing West Market Square, of the store of James A. Robinson & Son. All were very appropriate and tasteful.

Joseph Vigue, of Greenville, and Joseph Tario, of Old Town, were brought to this city Saturday by Deputy Sheriff C. C. Nichols, of Foxcroft, and lodged in jail to serve a sentence of thirty days for drunkenness and disturbance in the Lake House at Greenville on Thursday. While intoxicated they took possession of the house, broke some of the furniture and had a generally up roarious time.

The leading event of the week in musical circles will be the vocal and instrumental concert to be given at Grace church, Union street, Thursday evening, February 2. Bangor will most heartily welcome Miss May Jewell to the concert stage after her winter's study and will note with pleasure her improvement. Mrs. Helen Winslow Potter and others will make an evening's entertainment of rare enjoyment.

A very large number of the friends of Mr. and Mrs. Israel W. Mansfield, of Orono, attended their "at home" last Friday evening to congratulate them upon the anniversary of their fifteenth wedding day, writes our Orono correspondent. There was a fine display of presents. Mr. and Mrs. Mansfield were assisted in receiving by Miss Brackett, of Bangor. Coffee and chocolate were served and everything was as merry as a marriage bell.

Saturday Sullivan Harbor was filled with ice and was inaccessible to steamers. The steamer Sebenoa in making her regular trips from Mt. Desert Ferry to Bar Harbor and other places had to plough through the ice at Sorrento, but was able to make the run there. The ice was broken up at Bar Harbor and the Sebenoa has been enabled to make the usual landings. The thaw which began yesterday will doubtless result in opening the harbors which have been sealed by ice.

Mr. A. G. Stevens, of St. John, N. B., the famous fancy skater will give an exhibition of fancy skating at the Bangor rink this evening at 8 o'clock if the conditions are suitable. Mr. Stevens is acknowledged to be the finest fancy and figure skater in the country, and there will doubtless be a large number of spectators at the rink this evening. In addition to the above, a five mile race will take place between R. O. Whepley of Fredericton, N. B. and John Gibbins, of St. John, N. B., for a purse of $50.

Messrs. Robert Nickerson, of this city, and George Porter, of St. John, now living in this city, signed articles Saturday for a five mile race at the skating rink on February 10 for $25 a side, and $25 additional has been offered by the management of the rink. There have been several races of different distances at the rink and Porter has won two and Nickerson one. The coming race will doubtless be a closely contested event as both are fast skaters and many will doubtless attend the contest. It would be hard to pick the winner.

The Woodland Club had another very pleasant trip to Phillips Lake Saturday, a large number going out to the winter resort, the majority by train and some by private conveyances. The time was enjoyably passed in the exhilerating exercise afforded by the toboggan slide and in the comforts of the lodge, and the party returned at night very well satisfied with the day's outing. The members of the Nicolin Club, of Ellsworth, were entertained by the Woodland Club and enjoyed themselves very much. In the evening, after a delicious supper had been served at the lodge, the party repaired to the hall in Holden, where dancing was indulged in to the fine music rendered by Messrs. Pullen, Tuck & Cushing. A number of people from Portland passed the day at Woodland as guests of some of the members.

The launching of the Ammen ram at Bath has been postponed to next Saturday at 3 P. M.

A meeting of Unity Circle of King's Daughters will be held in the Memorial Parlors this afternoon at five o'clock.

Many of the students of the Maine State College will be in the city to-day on their return to Orono, as the spring term will begin to-morrow.

Capt. F. H. Noble, Capt. W. S. Higgins and Messrs. S. A. Maxfield, W. L. Miller, J. D. Mulvaney and Ambrose Fogg leave this morning on a fishing trip to Pistol Lake. They will be absent two weeks.

Saturday, Mr. A. M. Nutter and Mr. Blanchard, who are connected with the Dexter schools were in the city, conferring with Miss Snow, superintendent of schools in order to get ideas of our system of management.

The days continue to increase in length. While only a comparatively short time ago it began to grow dark in the middle of the afternoon, now it is near the latter part of the afternoon before the shades of night begin to fall. The increasing daylight is appreciated.

The many friends of Capt. F. F. Phillips, the hustling insurance man, will be pleased to know that there is a prospect of his resuming the agency of the Equitable Life Assurance Society in this city, as negotiations to that end are now in progress. Mr. Phillips has had flattering offers from other companies, with a larger salary, but thinks he will stick to the old company.

VALUABLE VOLUMES.

Copies of Original Plans of Towns in Penobscot County.

Copies of original plans of towns in Penobscot County, received by Register of Deeds, John T. Bowler, and but briefly referred to Saturday on account of lack of space, are volumes of much value as they are faithful reproductions of the earliest surveys and determine the manner in which the towns were laid out many years ago.

Six years ago, through the efforts of the late Lewis A. Barker, Esq., then Representative in the Legislature, a resolve was passed appropriating $600 for the reproduction of original plans of towns in all of the counties of the State. The work was begun but it was found that this amount was not enough and in 1889 another appropriation was made for the purpose of continuing the work.

For some reason the Penobscot county plan copies did not make an early appearance, but Representative James Adams, of this city, and Senator H. W. Mayo, of Hampden, have interested themselves in the matter with the good result that two fine volumes have reached the Register of Deeds' office in this city, where they will remain to be consulted at pleasure. They contain much valuable information.

Among the plans is one of Bangor made by Park Holland, surveyor, in 1801 and another one of the oldest, of Ipswich, by Barnabas Dodge in 1784. The two volumes are each over three feet square and over one inch in thickness. They are bound in Russia leather and the paper is of the finest kind used for drawing purposes. They were bound by Loring, Short & Harmon of Portland, and a convenient arrangement about the binding is the double hinge, which gives much freedom of action without wear and tear.

The index page contains the township, range division, location, grantee, State archives, surveyor, date and annotations. The plans in these volumes cover a great deal of Penobscot county, but there are more to come and upon their arrival there will then will be a very complete set of reproductions of original plans.

The arrangement was made under the direction of the Land Agent and the splendid copying work by Mr. J. H. Cochrane.

The plans are very handy for reference to timber lands especially and also for the determination of town lines. Penobscot county probably has the best set of original plans and copies of such of any county in the State.

IN THE CHURCHES.

Feeling References to the Death of Mr. Blaine and Phillips Brooks—The Funeral To-day—Bells in the City will be Tolled.

At a number of the churches yesterday during the different services of the day the pastors spoke most feelingly of the death of Mr. Blaine and Bishop Brooks, which came so near together and took away most brilliant intellects, which have attracted world wide attention. The words of the pastors were most appropriate tributes to the great men and they were listened to with marked interest and a feeling of deep regret at the loss of the eminent statesman and churchman.

The Funeral To-day.

During the time of the funeral to-day the public bells in the city will be tolled and the flags will be displayed at half-mast. Mayor Beal will issue instructions to this effect this morning. It was at one time thought that a public meeting should be held, but as there was very little opportunity for preparation of exercises commensurate with the great loss sustained in the death of Mr. Blaine, it was decided that it would be better under the circumstances to omit the meeting.

IMPROVEMENT IN SERVICE

The Maine Central Railroad Company Proposes to Build Another Bridge Over the Penobscot

THE WHIG learned Saturday from reliable authority that the Maine Central Railroad Company proposes sometime within the next few years to make an improvement in its service here which will result in quicker running time on the Bar Harbor and Bucksport branches and allow of the easier handling of trains. As a considerable amount of preliminary attention will have to be devoted to these changes it will take some time to complete the work, but the improvement will come.

The improvement referred to is in the building of a new bridge over the Penobscot, doing away with the present bridge above the toll bridge, and the arrangement of track to correspond. This bridge was built by the Bangor & Bucksport Railroad Company and came into the hands of the Maine Central when it leased the Bucksport branch. At the time the bridge was constructed no such railroad business development as has since occurred was thought of, and the arrangement of the structure is not of the kind to furnish proper accommodations for the present time.

The bridge extends in a slanting direction across the river, the Bangor end being further up river than the Brewer end, and its elevation is very considerable. According to the present arrangements made necessary by this bridge, the cars of trains for the Bar Harbor and Bucksport branches, upon arriving in the city, have to be shifted about, while those made up here have to go through a time taking arrangement, and then are backed through the city and up the higher grounds at this end of the bridge.

The trains are obliged to go to a position beyond the bridge before they can start ahead with the cars and locomotive in the proper position. The arriving trains have to go through a similar run. The business of both branches and the Bar Harbor line especially has largely increased and the necessary shifting of cars occasions considerable loss of time, which interferes with the promptest kind of service.

In the summer especially when the trains are heavy with large numbers of tourists and special cars it becomes more difficult to handle the trains, and the company is now contemplating such changes as will render the service as good as it can possibly be made, doing away with the backing out of trains, and enabling them to leave the depot head on and keep so.

It is proposed to build a track along the shore of the river to a suitable spot near the water works dam, and there construct a new bridge across to the Brewer side, laying new track from the Brewer end of the bridge to the Bar Harbor and Bucksport lines. The point of connection would be as near the center of the city of Brewer as it is possible to have it.

The improvement will, when carried into effect, be appreciated as it is considered that it will give superior train service, and the building of the bridge, etc., will give employment to many. It will doubtless take a few years to carry out the project, as such a thing cannot be done in a hurry but it seems destined to come about as soon as possible, as the company evidently means business in the matter.

The Maine Central is fast extending its double track system. It now has a double line between Augusta and Gardiner, Portland and Cumberland Junction and in May next the line between Cumberland Junction and Yarmouth Junction will be completed. This will be extended to Brunswick in the spring, giving a double track from Portland to Brunswick, a distance of 29 miles. A double track on the mountain division from Portland to Cumberland Mills will also be started in the spring.

Y. P. S. C. E. County Convention

The arranging of the programme for the next meeting of Penobscot County Union, Y. P. S. C. E., which occurs at the First Congregational church in Brewer on the 28th of February, is going on and the details of it will soon be made public. Christian Endeavorers all over the county will be much pleased to learn that Rev. J. M. Frost, of the First M. E. church, of Bangor, one of the best known Christian Endeavor workers and advocates in the State, and formerly president of the State Union, is to deliver the address of the convention in the evening. Rev. Mr. Frost's abilities are well known and this part of the meetings will be one to be remembered.

It is hoped that this convention will be the largest and most successful ever held. Preparations will be made for the entertainment of a very large number of delegates and it is desired that every society in the county be represented.

Harper's Weekly.

ILLUSTRATED.

HARPER'S WEEKLY is acknowledged as standing first among illustrated weekly periodicals in America. It occupies a place between that of the hurried daily paper and that of the less timely monthly magazine. It includes both literature and news, and presents with equal force and felicity the real events of current history and the imaginative themes of fiction. On account of its very complete series of illustrations of the World's Fair, it will be not only the best guide to the great Exposition, but also its best souvenir. Every public event of general interest will be fully illustrated in its pages. Its contributions being from the best writers and artists in this country, it will continue to excel in literature, news, and illustrations, all other publications of its class.

BREWER LOCALS.

Mr. M. E. Farrington came home from Great Works Saturday to spend Sunday.

Miss Alice Lufkin, of East Orrington has been spending a short time in the city.

Hon. H. P. Sargent, Representative to the Legislature, was home from Augusta on business Saturday.

Mr. S. N. Hodgdon came home Saturday from the scene of his lumbering operations on the South Branch.

Several Holden teams left last week for Amherst, where they will be employed hauling bark for the tanneries there.

Mr. Leman Pond, of the neighboring town of Holden, is laid up for a short time on account of a blow received from a kicking horse.

Mr. Paton, of the Bangor Theological Seminary, preached at the Second Congregational church, at South Brewer, yesterday and delivered an able sermon.

Rev. G. W. Field, D. D., of Bangor, occupied the pulpit of the First Congregational church, yesterday morning, and delivered a very interesting and powerful discourse.

The sidewalks, which had become quite slippery, received the attention of the sand team and crew again, Saturday and were placed in a more satisfactory condition for walking.

St. Valentine's Day is approaching and the stores are getting their stock of appropriate materials and valentines. The children will soon be making their preparations for the day.

The Christian Endeavor society connected with the South Brewer church, had special music, reading, etc., at its meeting last evening, appropriate to Christian Endeavor Day.

Mr. Bisbee B. Merrill has a handsome new five-year-old gray filly which he received from Boston last week. It is a promising animal with a fine pedigree and shows considerable speed.

Workmen digging to repair broken water pipes, last week, found that the frost had penetrated the ground to a depth of five feet, which is unusual and shows the severity of the winter.

The electric cars have been fitted with new window casings, which will have the effect of making the interior of the vehicles a much more warmer and comfortable place to ride in than formerly.

It has been decided to change the evening of holding the socials by the Chapel Society, at South Brewer, from Thursday evening to Tuesday. The next one will be held a week from to-morrow night.

A meeting is to be held this evening in the Y. M. C. A. building in Bangor for the purpose of considering the question of forming a local union of the Bangor and Brewer Christian Endeavor societies.

Mr. Samuel Thomson, of the Bangor Theological Seminary, is to supply the pulpit of the South Brewer church until the close of the school year. He is meeting with much success there and is well liked by the congregation.

There is some talk of combining the meetings on Sunday evening of the South Brewer Y. P. S. C. E. with the regular Sunday evening prayer meetings at the Second Congregational church there, and of holding the combined service at seven o'clock.

The monthly session of Penobscot Pomona Grange was held Saturday with Riverside Grange at North Brewer. A large number of Grangers were in attendance and the sessions were both interesting and profitable and the day was an enjoyable one.

The flag on the postoffice and others about the city were displayed at half mast Saturday, as a mark of respect at the death of Hon. James G. Blaine. Brewer people share with the rest of the people of the State and Nation, the general grief and deep regret at the decease of the great statesman.

The new steamer being built for the Hampden route at Mr. H. J. Leach's shop is to be named the Hector, a name given her by Capt. Benjamin Arey, Jr. The boat is to have a compound engine of about 40 horse power, which is to be built in Portland, as is also the boiler, and both are expected to arrive in a short time as they were ordered some time since.

The handsomely modelled steam yacht which Capt. S. H. Barbour is building at his yard for his own use, is to be supplied with a powerful triple expansion engine and a water tube boiler. The former is to be built by the Penobscot Machine Company, of Bangor, and the boiler Capt. Barbour already has at his yard. With this machinery, her fine lines, and light build, the yacht will doubtless be a fast one and a credit to her builder and owner.

Messrs. F. W. Ayer & Co. completed their ice operations, Saturday, at both their South Brewer plant and the Dyer Cove houses, and have in all about 50,000 tons secured. Some very quick work has been done at the lower houses, where a crew of about 60 men has put up 30,000 tons in 16½ days, an average of over 1,800 tons a day. On some days a much larger quantity has gone in, on one the estimate being 9,240 cakes, 23 inches in thickness or 2,310 tons.

The many friends of Mrs. Mary Blaisdell will deeply regret to learn of her death, which occurred Saturday, resulting from a tumor. She was 47 years of age and was the wife of Capt. J. W. Blaisdell of the schooner Edward Stewart. Capt. Blaisdell is away on a voyage and when last heard from was at Havana, but the exact present whereabouts of the vessel are not known. Mrs. Blaisdell was a lady held in the highest esteem and friendship by a wide circle of friends and the sympathy of all will be tendered her bereaved husband and two sons who survive her.

MISSED HIS WAY. A pretty good story is being told of a young man, a barber by trade, who resides at South Brewer. He has been paying attentions of late to a young lady who lives in Orrington, but had, prior to the incident to be related, not been at her house but once. A few nights ago, he started in a team to call upon her. He thought he knew where she lived and drove along in a satisfied condition of mind, usual to a young man under the circumstances. The road was left rapidly behind him and he, after a time, began to think he must be near the house and began to look about for it. Then he found he did not know just where it was and began to peer more anxiously at each building he passed. Finally he stopped and inquired as to where the lady lived and found that he had passed her home nearly a mile back. This confused him so that when he returned to his sleigh he stumbled and fell into it, and the horse frightened at this unusual proceeding, started to run in the wrong direction. It is presumed that the young man eventually stopped the animal and retraced his way to his destination.

Mr. Nathaniel Swett car inspector of the Canadian Pacific railroad, at Greenville, spent Sunday at his home in this city.

The regular monthly church meeting of the First Congregational society is to be held next Friday evening, in the vestry.

The regular weekly meeting of Volunteer Circle of King's Daughters, will be held this evening with Mrs. Farr, at her home on Holyoke street.

The weekly meeting of the whist club occurs this evening and will be held with Mr. and Mrs. F. H. Bunker, at their residence on Washington street.

The large pile of refuse ice which was thrown out in the rear of Messrs. E. H. & H. Rollins' plant, during the operations there, was being cleared away the latter portion of last week, and slid out into the "jog" in which the ferry slip is.

The South Brewer Y. P. S. C. E. made a good record for an organization of its size, during the year 1892, in the matter of giving to mission work. During that time about $38 were contributed by the society to different departments, both home and foreign.

WHO OWNS THE CASH.

Novel Suit Growing Out of the Finding of $55.

In March, 1890, Miss Alice S. Wells, a clerk and typewriter in Attorney Parkinson's office, Chicago, found $55 in bills in the corridors of the Adams Express Building. She made no secret of her discovery, but reported the matter to her employer and advertised for the owner in the daily papers. Nelson E. Fassett claims to have been present when Miss Wells found the money, and that same evening upon his return home he discovered that it was he who had lost the $55. He wrote to Miss Wells making a claim for the money, and as a result of the correspondence interviews followed, but Fassett could not identify the bills or adduce any evidence of ownership except his knowledge of the exact amount. As this has been made no secret, however, and was known in several offices, Miss Wells, presumably under instruction from her employer, refused to surrender the money to Fassett.

The bills were laid away in the vault, and after the lapse of three months were appropriated and used by Miss Wells. Fassett finally brought suit against Miss Wells before Justice Gording, of Maplewood, who, it is claimed, was the office associate, if not partner of Fassett's attorney. An appeal was taken from his judgment to the Circuit Court, and the case was given to the jury before the adjournment of court on Tuesday. On the trial Fassett failed to identify the bills, or give more satisfactory evidence of his ownership than that already mentioned. The jury found that they could not arrive at any conclusion, and they were discharged by Justice Adams. The cost of the case already amounts to many times the sum involved, but the parties are still determined to have another trial. Miss Wells' friends will not allow her to give up the fight until a positively just claim has been established against her.

Welcome Rain.

The author of "Round the Compass in Australia" had put up for the night with the manager of a stock farm. It was a time of drought, and the evening passed amid stories of frightful suffering and losses. The manager thought it would be hardly possible to hold out a week longer. "Shady Jack's well is done," he said, "and the Frenchman's tank is empty." His wife tried to encourage him.

"Hope for the best," she said.

"My faith!" answered the manager, "but the best things never come off."

"Yes, Dick," responded his wife, "but the worst things never come off."

Night after night this man had walked the room, alternating between prayers and curses, as each day's record was another thousand sheep dead, another empty well, until at last he had come to this grim courage of despair.

"I shouldn't care so much," he said to the traveler, "but then, my wife, my girls in there!"

He drew his sleeves across his eyes and bowed his head on the table. For ten minutes he sat there so. Then the visitor saw him raise his head, start, spring to his feet and listen with strained attention. What was that? Something plashed on the corrugated roof overhead.

"Rain, rain, rain!" he shouted as he rushed outside and fell on his knees with his hands stretched out toward the clouded sky.

"Thank God! Thank God! Wife! Girls! Mary! Rain!"

Even so. The flood gates of the sky were opened, and before morning the visitor was helping to put up a dyke on one side of the house. The march of destruction was staid.

Hunting Zebras.

After crossing the usual heated yellow plains looking for all the world like an expanse of overparched hayfields and dotted here and there with droves of springbok, we outspanned two and so rode back again across the hot, weary plain for camp. We had not long quitted the forest before we sighted a good troop of Burchell's zebra, feeding quietly. We spread out in line and rode up to them.

The troop, which consisted mostly of mares with a yearling foal or two, was guarded by an old stallion, who stood sentinel nearest to us with his head up. Presently, turning half round, he gave some sort of signal and the rest of the band galloped briskly off curveting and capering as they ran. After moving a few hundred yards the troop suddenly wheeled round in line to have a good look at us again.

These tactics of the zebras were displayed in a retreat of some miles, the old stallion always covering the rear, until the troop, outflanked by Dove, shot off to the right and my chance came. I galloped hard to intercept them, and as they stood for a minute, or seeing me in the line of flight, got a steady shot at 200 yards. The bullet clapped as if on a barn door, and as the troop continued their flight I saw one zebra turn away alone. Presently she stood again. I was soon within sixty yards, and with another bullet finished her. She proved to be a fine mare in beautiful coat, and her head and skin now decorate a room at home.—Longman's Magazine.

A Story of Millionaire Lick.

James Lick, of San Francisco, was an unlovable millionaire, of whom a curious story is told. When a poor youth in Pennsylvania he was rejected by the daughter of a wealthy miller on account of his poverty. He vowed at that time that he would some day build a mill that would far surpass that of his sweetheart's father. Many years after he kept his vow and constructed at San Jose a mill of highly polished California wood valued at $200,000. During his lifetime Mr. Lick had few friends and apparently cared for none. He lived plainly and was seen very little in public. The larger part of his fortune was left to charities and public institutions, one notable bequest being the sum of $60,000 for the erection of a statue to Key, the author of the "Star Spangled Banner."

While many institutions profited by Mr. Lick's posthumous gifts, his most famous achievement was the establishment of the Lick observatory on Mount Hamilton, under the management of the University of California. Mr. Lick's body was placed in 1887 under the base of the pier sustaining the great telescope.—New York World.

The body is now looked upon as the fit companion of the soul. Even its appetites, in their proper sphere and within their normal limits, are regarded with high respect, not merely as contributors to our pleasure, but as essential to our higher welfare.

The honor of the invention of printing has been claimed by Mentz, Strasburg, Haarlem, Venice, Rome, Florence, Basle and Augsburg. The first three are entitled to consideration.

A horsefly will live for hours after its head has been pulled off. The head of the mosquito hawk will continue eating its victim when separated from the thorax.

Cures Scrofula

Mrs. E. J. Rowell, Medford, Mass., says her mother has been cured of Scrofula by the use of four bottles of S.S.S. after having had much other treatment, and being reduced to quite a low condition of health, as it was thought she could not live.

INHERITED SCROFULA

Cured my little boy of hereditary Scrofula, which appeared all over his face. For a year I had given up all hope of his recovery, when finally was induced to use S.S.S. A few bottles cured him, and no symptoms of the disease remain.

A HERO.

BY ANNIE WALL.

Here is a hero who, when sorely tried,
  Hath yet a firm control
O'er all his passions as they strongly rise
  To battle with his soul.

The silent battle which the spirit fights,
  Warring against desires
Unholy and impure, if right shall win
  To higher good inspires.

The soul that crucifies an evil thought,
  That keeps a guarded gate
Of Christian love and brotherly good will
  Between his soul and hate,

Shall stand, in all his manliness and worth,
  As mightier than he
Who takes a city in his strength and pride
  Or boasteth vauntingly.

The shield of purity when nobly worn,
  Where faith has been confessed,
Is stronger than the cunning coat of mail
  Upon a warrior's breast.

He is a hero who to truth is true,
  Though lowly and obscure.
Long after earthly honors fade away
  His triumphs shall endure.

Rats in an English School.

In the summer holidays of 1858 the floor of Long chamber in Eton school was removed, and two large cartloads of bones, chiefly of necks of mutton, were taken from between the floor and the ceiling of the rooms below. How they came there was explained by Mr. Carter, then vice provost. He told the present writer that when the sixth form boys took their supper in "chamber" the rats were wont to come out of holes in the floor and wainscot to feed on the bones which were flung to them. When these animals from time to time became a nuisance by their numbers, a fag was sent round while the rats were feeding to insert long stockings in their holes, with the apertures carefully opened.

The modern sock was then unknown. When this was done an alarm was given. The rats on rushing to their holes were trapped in the stockings, which were then drawn out, and the rats were banged to death against the beds. "And you went into school next morning in the same stockings, sir?" "Of course, of course," was the reply; "we could not get clean stockings when we pleased."—Nineteenth Century.

The First War Correspondents.

In a sense Julius Cæsar was a war correspondent, only he did not send his "commentaries" piecemeal from the "theater of war," but indited them at his leisure in the subsequent peace time. The old Swedish Intelligencer of the Gustavus Adolphus period was genuine war correspondence, published indeed tardily compared with our news of today, but nevertheless fresh from the scene of action, full of distinctiveness, quaint and racy beyond compare.

The first modern war correspondent professionally commissioned and paid by a newspaper was Mr. C. L. Gruneisen, a well known literary man, only recently dead, who was sent to Spain by The Morning Post with the "Spanish Legion," which Sir de Lacy Evans commanded in 1837 in the service of the queen of Spain. But this new departure was not followed up and no English paper was represented in the great battles of the first and second Punjaub wars.—Archibald Forbes in Century.

Was Converted and Paid the Old Bet.

Ten years ago Allen Talmadge was staying in Indianapolis. He got into an argument with a man and made a bet of five dollars on the point in dispute. Mr. Talmadge proved to be wrong and paid the five dollars. Afterward they got to arguing which was the longest river in the world, and Mr. Talmadge found out that his river was the longest and went to the man for his money, but he refused to pay it. Mr. Talmadge abused him for taking his money and refusing to pay when he had honestly lost it.

Mr. Talmadge moved back to Georgia, and about a week or two ago got a letter from the man asking for his address, as he had a little matter of business with him. The address was sent, and Friday a letter came inclosing a check on New York for five dollars, and saying that he had been converted and thought it right to send the amount of the bet made ten years ago.—Athens (Ga.) Banner.

From the Romans.

"Put your right foot foremost" is a piece of advice that has been offered to most folk, young and old, in the course of their lives. It is generally equivalent to saying, "Now's your chance; do your very best and show what you are capable of." Like a great many common phrases this expression has an old origin. In the days of ancient Rome, when people were usually the slaves of some superstition or other, it was thought to be unlucky to cross the threshold of a house with the left foot first. Consequently a boy was placed at the door of the mansion to remind visitors that they were to put their right foot foremost. The use of the phrase in the wider sense soon became obvious.—Lewiston Journal.

Dangers of Bathing in a Big River.

Few people are aware of the danger of bathing in the Mississippi. Aside from the perils of the treacherous currents and eddies, which will draw a man under before he knows he is in any danger, there are fish in the river big enough to bite off a man's leg at one snap.—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

The Right Man.

Papa—Dear me! My watch has run down, and I can't make it go again.

Willie—Div it to me. I'll div it to cook, an she'll div it to the watchman when he turns.—Harper's Bazar.

An apple grown near Portersville, Cal., is reported to weigh almost two pounds and measure fifteen inches in circumference.

I feel it my duty to say a few words in regard to Ely's Cream Balm, and I do so entirely without solicitation. I have used it more or less half a year, and have found it to be most admirable. I have suffered from catarrh of the worst kind ever since I was a little boy, and I never hoped for cure, but Cream Balm seems to do even that. Many of my acquaintances have used it with excellent results.—Oscar Ostrum, 45 Warren Ave., Chicago, Ill.

The Story of a Suicide.

I remember being called a year or two ago, in my capacity as police reporter, to a tenement on the west side—I think it was in West Thirty-seventh street—where a painter had that day cut his throat. Standing there by the corpse I learned from the sobbing widow that the man was desperate for want of work. He had been on the streets for weeks, and his children were starving. It happened that I had been for just the same length of time looking for a man to paint my house out in the country, where painters were scarce and very busy. I had just made up my mind to advertise that day. There lay this painter dead because he could find no one to give him work, while I would have been glad to pay him more than the wages of his trade to get him to work for me.

Had there been any means of bringing us together to which we would both naturally have resorted, he would have been alive and his family self supporting. Now it seemed certain to become a burden upon the public.

It was not the only instance of that sort by very many I had come across.—Jacob A. Riis in Forum.

The Value of Thought.

It is hardly necessary to say that all men need to "swing" the moral compass from time to time and to take their bearings in the sea of life. The advice is as true as it is conventional. Upon the use of thinking for such purposes we shall not, then, dwell. We may, however point out, as a means of strengthening and invigorating the mind in a secular and worldly sense, the habit of thinking is of the greatest possible value.

The minds of those who dread thinking, as if it were a penance, become like the bodies of those fed solely on spoon meat—soft and unable to stand the slightest strain. Reading, as one ordinarily reads, is like swallowing pap; thinking, like eating solid food. The man who trains his mental powers by meditation and by following outlines of thought obtains an intellectual instrument a hundred times more powerful than he who is content never to think seriously and consecutively.—London Spectator.

A startling variation of the snake story comes from Rome, Ga. A gentleman seeing a snake lying on the road, prodded it with his umbrella. The snake straightened its body, spread out two long wings like a goose, arose in the air and flew across the field.

[illegible]

What a blessed thing is memory! How it brings up the pleasures of the past, and hides its unpleasantness! You recall your childhood days, do you not, and wish they would return? You remember the pleasant associations, while the unpleasant ones are forgotten. Perhaps to your mind comes the face of some friend. It was once a pale, sad face. It showed marks of pain, lines of care. It seemed to be looking into the hereafter, the unknown future. And then you recalled how it brightened, how it recovered its rosy hue, how it became a picture of happiness and joy. Do you remember these things? Many people do, and gladly tell how the health returned, how happiness came back, how the world seemed bright. They tell how they were once weak, nerveless, perhaps in pain, certainly unhappy. They tell of sleepless nights restless days, untouched food, unstrung nerves. And then they tell how they became happy, healthy and strong once more. You have heard it often in the past, have you not? You have heard people describe how they were cured and kept in health? You certainly can remember what it is that has so helped people in America. If not, listen to what Mrs. Annie Jenness Miller, who is known universally as the great dress reformer, says: "Six years ago, when suffering from mental care and overwork, I received the most pronounced benefit from the use of that great medicine, Warner's Safe Cure." Ah, now you remember. Now you recall how many people you have heard say this same thing. Now you recollect how much you have heard of this great Cure. Now you are ready to admit that memory is usually pleasing, that the highest pleasure comes from perfect health, and that this great remedy has done more to produce and prolong health than any other discovery ever known in the entire history of the whole world.
